2. Background: Last August you approved a new charter for the Center for the Study of Intelligence which established DCI Fellowships in the Center. The aim of the Center--which is a staff element in the Office of Training--is to provide the DCI Fellows with opportunities for professional enrichment through research, reflection, and articulation of ideas concerning vexing issues related to the process and profession of intelligence. Nominations for DCI Fellowships are made through component and directorate career board channels to the Training Selection Board where they are screened and selections are made for submission to you for approval. Fellowships are for a period commensurate with the complexity of the research topic, but not to exceed one year. Individual research and study topics are approved by the Board of Advisors to the Center. ☐

a. Seven candidates--three from NFAC, two from DDS&T, and one each from DDO and DDA, were nominated in response to a call issued within CIA. Two of the nominees were females, and one was black. Both female nominees were subsequently withdrawn; one of them had resigned from the Agency, and the other had accepted assignment to a supervisory position with prospects for early promotion. ☐
